The Portland Historical Society is offering a new Historic House Plaque Program for homeowners and businesses [that own historic houses] located in Portland, Connecticut. The purpose of this program is to honor the history of the town and to commemorate the 250th anniversary of the United States. We believe historic houses deserve to be recognized.

The Historic House Plaque Program was originally offered by the Society in the 1980's for houses that were included in the book The History and Architecture of Portland, published by the Greater Middletown Preservation Trust. Several houses in Portland proudly display these plaques, but many are weathered or may even be missing. Should you have any questions about your house, please contact us.

The Society will provide a new plaque for a cost of $100 each for houses on the original historic houses list. The new house plaques will be like the original ones, as shown below and will include the house's year of construction, the name of the original owner, drilled holes, and stainless-steel screws for installation on the front of the house. The Society will also provide a copy of the description and photo of your house. The plaque is a recognition of the history of your house and carries no legal protections or restrictions on the property.

To order your plaque, please submit a complete application, along with the $100 fee and a member of the Society will contact you to discuss the details specific to your house. Please submit your application to PortlandHistSoc@yahoo.com or mail it to the address above. More details can be found on our website (www.portlandhistsoc.org.) Please allow 6-8 weeks for the processing of each application. Thank you for your support of the Portland Historical Society in its mission to collect, preserve and share Portland History.
